

P-402 : Information needs and seeking behaviour

LONG QUESTIONS

1. What are the fundamental concepts of information needs and seeking behavior in libraries?
2. What are the different types of information needs that library users may have, including personal, academic, and professional needs, and how libraries cater to these diverse requirements through their resources and services?
3. What role does information literacy play in shaping the information-seeking behavior of library users?
4. How do libraries contribute to enhancing the information literacy skills of their patrons to empower them in effectively?
5. What are the emerging trends and innovations in information needs and seeking behavior research within the library and information science field?
6. In the context of digital libraries and the internet, what challenges and opportunities do librarians face in meeting the information needs of users.
7. How has the information-seeking behavior of library patrons evolved, and what implications does this evolution hold for the future of libraries as information providers?
8. What challenges and opportunities do librarians face in meeting the information needs of users?
9. Discuss the role of user-centered design principles in library services and interfaces, emphasizing how libraries can create user-friendly environments that align with the information-seeking behavior.
10. Discuss different activities on uses of information, i.e. management, teaching and learning.

SHORT QUESTIONS

1. Define Information literacy.
2. What is information seeking behavior?
3. Factors affecting ISB.
4. What is information literacy?
5. Write different methods of user studies.
6. Need of user education.
7. Write on different community of users.
8. Evaluation of user studies
9. Interview method for user studies.
10. Write on different types of user study.